

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

I am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight.

There is no hard evidence that cell phone use doesn't interfere with navigational instruments. The introduction of cell phone use in the cabin will not only increase tension among passengers, it will compromise flight attendants' ability to maintain order in an emergency. Cell phone use could also enable terrorists to coordinate a plan of action more effectively.

Further, I ride on a commuter train 3 hours a day, and there is no greater source of conflict between people on the train than that caused by cell phone use. Many planes already provide "Air Phones" to their passengers, and these allow anyone to make necessary calls. It also effectively cuts out annoying "chatterbox" calls that cause conflicts on commuter trains.

Please leave the current rules in effect.

Sincerely,

Daniel Resch
